R. W. SHINGLE.

Robert W. Shingle was born in Cheyenne, Wyoming, thirty-two years ago. After completing his education in the public schools there, Mr. Shingle entered newspaperdom, first in the business department of the Wyoming Tribune and later as a reporter on the Denver Republican. He came to Honolulu in 1896 and was City Editor of the Hawaiian Star, holding that position until 1903, when he was appointed Commissioner General to the Trans-Mississippi Exposition by President Taft. Upon his return from this mission, Mr. Shingle went on the editorial staff of the Advertiser. In the year 1909, Mr. Shingle entered the employ of Henry Waterhouse and Company. Later on this firm was incorporated under the name of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Co., Ltd., and Mr. Shingle steadily made his way to the presidency, to which office he was elected upon the death of Henry Waterhouse, being the first to hold the office five years ago.

Mr. Shingle is President of the Honolulu Stock and Bond Exchange, Treasurer of the Hawaiian Live Stock and Breeders' Association, and a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants' Association. He is a member of several fraternal orders. He takes a lively interest in polo, and is one of the seven trustees of the house five years ago.

Representative 4th Dis.

E. A. DOUTHETT.

Formerly a San Francisco attorney of high character, integrity and ability, E. A. Douthett came to Honolulu a few years ago and is a credit to the community. He was elected County Attorney on the first county ticket by a handsome majority. His rare legal ability will make him a valuable acquisition to the House.

J. C. COHEN.

Joel C. Cohen is the liberal man of the Fourth District. He is a political worker from Wisconsin but has been in Hawaii long enough to be classed as a Kamaaina. Mr. Cohen has been very active in the theatrical line and has probably given the people more enjoyment than any other one man. He is popular with the people. He believes in them.

Representative 4th Dis.

JOHN K. KAMANOULU.

Like the illustrious Ben Franklin, John K. Kamanoulu began life as a printer. He was born and raised in Honolulu and was educated at the Royal School. He has worked as a printer for the Hawaiian Gazette Co. and has been chief compositor at the Hawaiian Star for the past nine years. His honesty and faithfulness to his employers assure his honorable career as a Legislator.
